

NSU's 'Sinobis' won 'Inter-University Programming Contest 2015'

The team from North South University (NSU) named 'Sinobis' won the championship of Inter-University Programming Contest 2015 held on February 07, 2015. Among 273 contestants of 91 teams originated from different renowned public and public universities from all over Bangladesh, the team from NSU achieved this very prestigious title. Teams 'Jefrin' from SUST and 'Mue' from BUET won the second and third position respectively. A team of fifteen members led by the Professor Dr. Mohammad Kaykobad, Computer Science and Engineering Department, BUET was the panel of judges for this competition.

The members of 'Sinobis'

Champion team is receiving the certificate from the chief guest

The competition titled as "SUB Inter-University Programming Contest 2015" was the initiative of Computer Science and Engineering Department of State University of Bangladesh (SUB). Dr. AM Shamim, President, Board of Trustees, SUB distributed prizes to the winners at the closing ceremony as the Chief Guest.

On 9th February, 2015 the winning team presented the certificate to Prof. Amin U. Sarkar, Vice Chancellor, NSU. Dr. Gour Gobinda Goswami, Treasurer, Dr. Miftahur Rahman, Dean, School of Engineering and Physical Sciences, NSU and other academic, non-academic personnel were present at that time.

The winning team is presenting the certificate to the Vice Chancellor, NSU